King John

*Includes free entry for a family group on presentation of this leaflet.

his weekend, across the country, we commemorate Magna Carta, one of the most important documents in history, which was agreed on 15th June 1215. Canterbury is an important part of the history of Magna Carta.

This trail takes you on an exciting walk through Canterbury. Visit each of the six places on the trail, meet characters from the Magna Carta story and take part in fun hands-on activities.

Allow about two hours to complete the trail. If you have less time, do just visit the venues of your choice!

The shield of arms of Canterbury

Westgate Towers

This is Canterbury's only remaining medieval gateway built in 1380. It houses some fascinating collections relating to its eventful history.

Eastbridge Hospital

This was a place of hospitality for medieval pilgrims visiting Canterbury Cathedral. It was founded in the 12th century.

The Beaney

Visit the two exhibitions in this award-winning art museum and library to see real documents and artefacts from the time of Magna Carta.
